I do my own research about the personalities of historical figures Papa-ue is really that kind of person It's true. I The arrow they use is the actual thing for battle, But it seems there's one for training purposes though

Personally I'd never heard of this mangaka before I laid my eyes on Arcana, although now I realise she's also the mangaka of Izayakaku. Then again, it's just another example of how Arcana opens my eyes to yet another talented artist of Zero-Sum. I found this oneshot rather humorous, Yoshitomo-dono is just such an overprotective father. He reminds me a lot of Hughes from FMA, and those kinds of fathers are just hilarious by nature, if you get what I mean.

I did not need to think if I was going to love this oneshot when I've recognized the characters as the ones from Izayakaku! It's nice to learn more about Yoshitomo a family, and oh I love his father and brothers~ This had been a really entertaining oneshot! I love it and I hope you guys liked it too!!!
